

Leaving a legacy

Leave a lasting gift in your will to Queen Victoria Hospital and the lives we rebuild

Legacies mean we can do even more for our patients by pioneering new treatments, providing the very latest equipment and offering those extra touches that make a good hospital great.

Your will – an investment in the future

Leaving a will is important. It ensures that those close to you are provided for, in the way you wish, after you die.

Once you know your loved ones are looked after, you might like to leave a legacy in your will.

Giving to charity is a rewarding experience, but for many giving in their lifetime can be difficult. Leaving a legacy is one of the easiest and most effective ways of supporting a good cause that is close to your heart.

Some people like to give something back to Queen Victoria Hospital and its patients in their will, perhaps in recognition of the life-changing care and treatment they or a loved one have received, or simply because they're proud of the hospital and the role it plays in the local community and internationally.

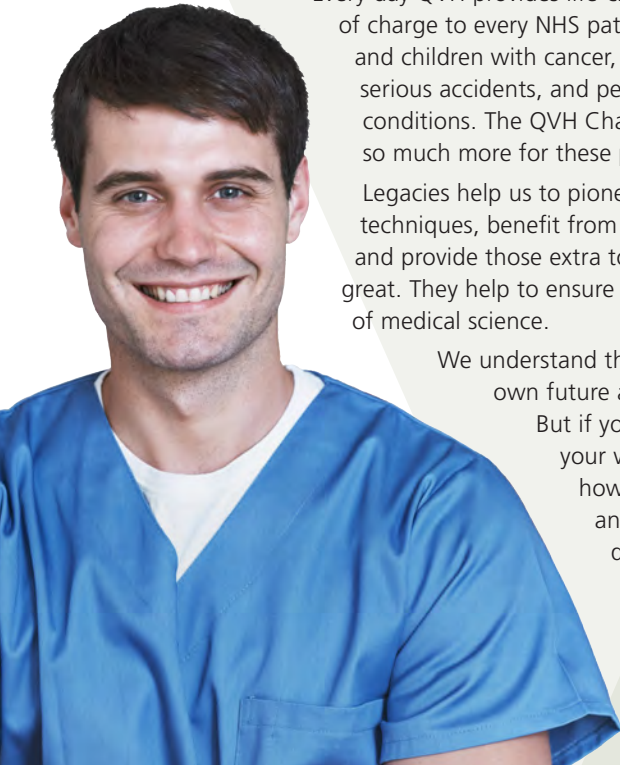

Supporting QVH and the lives we rebuild

Every day QVH provides life-changing surgery and care, free of charge to every NHS patient who needs it including adults and children with cancer, people who have suffered from serious accidents, and people who need treatment for genetic conditions. The QVH Charity means the hospital can do so much more for these patients and their families.

Legacies help us to pioneer new treatments and surgical techniques, benefit from the latest equipment and technology and provide those extra touches that make a good hospital great. They help to ensure that QVH can remain at the forefront of medical science.

We understand the importance of investing in your own future and that your loved ones come first.

But if you would like to remember QVH in your will, we can assure you that your gift, however big or small, will be treasured and invested wisely. It will make a real difference to the lives of the thousands of patients from across the country that we care for every year, now and in future generations.

How to leave a gift in your will

There are a number of different ways to leave money to charity in your will and we strongly recommend that you talk to a solicitor to draw up or amend your will so they can advise you on the best approach and ensure that your wishes are met.

To leave a gift to QVH, you may suggest the following wording to your solicitor:

I leave [percentage/fraction or fixed sum of residuary estate] to The Queen Victoria Hospital NHS Trust Charitable Fund, Queen Victoria Hospital, Holtye Road, East Grinstead, West Sussex RH19 3DZ, registered charity number 1056120.

If you would like your gift to benefit a specific area of the hospital, we would be delighted to discuss this with you. Please get in touch with our charity team using the contact details on the back of this leaflet.

Your gift can make a real difference

Donations from legacies enabled the hospital to buy a £50,000 state-of-the-art laser for removing skin and mouth cancers. The very precise equipment removes diseased tissue without the need for more invasive surgery. This protects surrounding healthy tissue and helps patients to heal faster.

Keep in touch

Leaving a gift to charity in your will is a highly personal and private decision. However, if you'd like to discuss anything with us, we'd be happy to talk. Please contact the charity team on 01342 414170, supportqvh@qvh.nhs.uk.

And if you have left us a gift in your will, or intend to, then we would love to know. It gives us an opportunity to thank you properly and means we can keep you informed about our work and projects.

Thank you, on behalf of our patients and staff – both present and future – for thinking of us.
